

Vladimir KUZNETSOV is Vladimir Nikolayevich KUZNETSOV
who arrived in Brussels in early October 1976 as First Secretary in the Soviet Embassy. Served as cultural attache and first secretary in The Hague July 1971 - early September 1974.

KUZNETSOV

While Cultural Attache KUZNETSOV is not an identified KGB officer, he is certainly suspect either as an I.O. or a co-optee. He replaced a KGB co-optee and is frequently observed in the company of known KGB officers. It goes without saying that his position affords him numerous opportunities to make contacts of all sorts.

2. We do not believe the evidence cited by the Station (The Hague) in paragraph two of Reference is strong enough to consider Cultural Attaché KUZNETSOV a suspect intelligence officer or cooptee. KUZNETSOV's replacing a Soviet who was suspected of being a KGB cooptee does not make KUZNETSOV himself suspect, and although he has been frequently observed in the Netherlands with known KGB officers, we note that Reference cites two instances of association with the presumed GRU Resident, I. O. ANISIMOV. In short, we believe it premature to attempt to draw any conclusions at all about KUZNETSOV's intelligence status, and concur with [SYMPATHIZER'S] not including him in the presumed KGB Residency.
